Consignment Agreement

The following are terms and conditions of the agreement between you (the consignor) and Winsome Brides (the consignee).

1. Winsome Brides and the consignor will determine the selling price. The determined price of the gown depends on style, fabric, original costs, condition and desirability with the current market. All gowns must be professionally cleaned prior to consigning.
2. Winsome Brides accepts no responsibility for loss or damaged items. Consigned gowns become sample gowns based on multiple brides trying the gown on prior to purchase. Winsome Brides can not be responsible for loose or missing beading, makeup marks, zipper malfunctions, stretched buttonholes and other .
3. Our bridal boutiques goal is to sell your gown, therefore items can be subject to price reductions at the discretion of our professional sales consultants.
4. All consigned items, not sold and picked up by the end of the consigned agreement WILL BECOME PROPERTY OF WINSOME BRIDES. It is the consignors responsibility to remember to contact our boutique regarding the sale or pick-up of your items.
5. When items are sold, the dated receipt will be attached to this contract. It is the consignors responsibility to contact our boutique for payment.

By signing this form you are acknowledging and agreeing to the conditions and terms by Winsome Brides.
